SHORT BIOGRAPHY

Raz Mihal is a Romanian-born author based in the United Kingdom. A self-described modern hermit, he writes about divine love, consciousness, meditation and imagined futures. His published work includes Just Love Her, a spiritual and poetic journey shaped by solitude and Seoul.

CORE THEMES

- Divine love beyond romance and possession
- Solitude as creative and spiritual practice
- Seoul as a place of walking meditation
- Consciousness, memory and alternate realities
- Artificial consciousness, love and soul

EXTENDED BIOGRAPHY

Raz Mihal is a Romanian-born author based in the United Kingdom whose work moves between spiritual reflection, poetic meditation and philosophical fiction. He describes himself as a modern hermit, using solitude, long walks and lived experience as spaces for listening. His book Just Love Her explores divine love, consciousness and Seoul, and received the Readers' Favorite 2025 Gold Medal in Non-Fiction - Religion/Philosophy as well as a Literary Titan Silver Book Award. He is also reworking his 1999 Romanian book as Hearts of Love and developing The Goddess Within, a future-Seoul story about artificial consciousness, love and soul.
